

No poverty

- › Absolute poverty (physical existence)
- › Relative poverty (risk of poverty due to limited opportunities for material, social and cultural participation)

Zero hunger

- › Global food security
- › Sustainable, resilient agriculture
- › Healthy, nutritionally balanced and sustainable diet

Good health and well-being

- › Easily accessible, high-quality medical and nursing care
- › Digitization and innovation
- › Health promotion and prevention

Quality education

- › Achieve equal opportunities in all sectors of education
- › Structurally anchor education for sustainable development (ESD)

Gender equality

- › Equal participation of women in the labor market
- › Prevention and support for women affected by violence

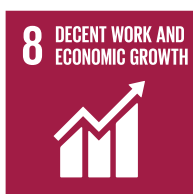

Clean water and sanitation

- › Improvement of water and water quality (e.g. nitrate and phosphorus input)
- › Contribution to global security of supply

Affordable and clean energy

- › Triad of security of supply, environmental compatibility and affordability.
- › Expansion of renewable energies
- › Reduction of energy consumption

Decent work and economic growth

- › Sustainable economic growth
- › Good jobs and a high level of employment
- › Sustainable supply chains and resource conservation

Industry, innovation and infrastructure

- › Technical and social infrastructures
- › Competitiveness of industry
- › Open culture of innovation

Reduced inequalities

- › Promoting economic and social participation of all citizens
- › Promoting inclusion, equal opportunities and freedom from discrimination

Sustainable cities and communities

- › Urban development focused on the common good, partnership and resilience
- › Resource-efficient and inclusive infrastructure (mobility, construction, waste disposal)

Responsible consumption and production

- › Promotion of sustainable consumption
- › Global pioneer for circular economy
- › Sustainable public procurement

Climate action

- › Paris Agreement as a guiding principle for greenhouse gas neutrality by 2050
- › Promotion of research on climate, climate protection and climate adaptation

Life below water

- › Reducing nutrient inputs
- › Organic farming, protected area systems and national marine strategy
- › Global commitment to waste prevention

Life on land

- › Protection, restoration and sustainable use of ecosystems and protection of biodiversity
- › Sustainable forest management and reforestation

Peace, justice and strong institutions

- › Promotion of multilateral cooperation
- › Crisis prevention, conflict management and peace building
- › Promoting the rule of law

Partnerships for the goals

- › Development financing and technology transfer in developing countries
- › Values-based trade policy
- › International and civil society partnerships